Weekend Mishaps Injure 12 Accidents Occur In Kingston City

Twelve persons were injured in six city traffic mishaps over the weekend.

A driver and a car owner were summoned to court on charges after one downtown Saturday. It was also followed by the sounding of a fire alarm by someone, who thought a garage, which had been struck, caught fire.

Four in One Crash

Four persons were injured in a two-car collision Sunday afternoon at Albany and Manor avenues. Taken to Kingston Hospital by Fatum ambulance were: Harriet Katatsky, 43, of 89 Jarvis Street, driver of the one car who suffered injuries of the right arm and head; Eileen Katatsky, 13, same address, injuries of the right ankle, back, neck and head; and Rachel Levine, 75, of 28 Maiden Lane, injured right arm and leg.

Daniel Mack, 48, of 55 Wrentham Street, driver of the other car, was to be treated by a doctor for an arm injury. Police said he was driving west on Albany Avenue, and the other car was headed north on Manor Avenue. Officer Raymond Wells investigated.

Major Hardin, 57, of 26 Post Street, was charged with permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his car after an accident reported at 5:10 p. m. on Hunter near Post Street. Lora Baggett, 47, of the same address, was also summoned for driving unsupervised on a learner's permit. They pleaded guilty in city court today and were fined $25 each.

List of Injured

Injured were: Judith Berthiaume, 20, of 10 VanBuren Street, left arm and knee, and Rose Marie Rundle, 18, of 134 Hunter Street, injuries not reported. They were treated at Kingston Hospital.

The other car was driven by Wesley Dunbar, 42, of 134 Hunter Street. A third car, owned by Alfonso Knox, of 62 Hunter Street, parked at that address, was reported struck.

An alarm was sounded from Box 3132, Broadway and East Union Street, by someone who apparently thought a garage near the scene had caught fire. Firemen found no fire.

Two men were injured when a car left the road and struck a tree at 328 Hurley Avenue near the turn at Beatty's farm Sunday afternoon.

Taken to the Benedictine Hospital were Robert F. Harvey, 22, of 46 Cedar Street, who suffered chest and shoulder injuries, and Thomas Sauer, 22, of 168 Downs Street. Harvey drove the car.

A police report at 4:13 p. m. said the car was headed north on Hurley Avenue, when it left the road and went up the side of an embankment and struck the tree. The driver said he was forced off the road by another vehicle. (Continued on Page 10, Col. 3)

Rockefeller on Verge of Fight With Labor Leaders He Viewed as Backers

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller, on the verge of an open bid for the Republican presidential nomination, is engaged in open warfare with the labor leaders he viewed as supporters when he gained reelection last year.

The long-simmering feud flared into public view over the weekend when the governor addressed delegates to the annual convention of the State AFL-CIO, the state's largest and most powerful union organization.

Two days after the delegates had heard a Kennedy administration official accuse Rockefeller of selling the state short by shunning programs that would increase economic growth.

The AFL-CIO refrained from endorsing any candidate in the 1962 gubernatorial race. This stood out as a political triumph for Rockefeller, because the organization usually endorses the Democratic nominee.

Later, individual union leaders formed a Labor Committee for Rockefeller and campaigned actively for him.

There was strong belief at the time that the favorable union reaction was due, in part, to Rockefeller's appointment of Harold C. Hanover, long-time head of the State AFL and the AFL-CIO, as a deputy state labor commissioner. Hanover still has that post.

It was during the 1963 Legislature, however, that first signs appeared of a division between Rockefeller and the labor leaders. They disapproved when the governor asked for enactment of a statewide law granting collective bargaining rights to employees of non-profit hospitals.

The AFL-CIO president protested strongly that an arbitration clause in the proposed law amounted to compulsory arbitration, which labor traditionally opposes.

The Legislature eventually passed the governor's bill, but revised it to apply to New York City only, rather than statewide.

And, last Saturday, delegates gave Rockefeller a cool reception when he commented that he did not know which hat Corbett was wearing—that of union president or of "former delegate-at-large to the Democratic National Convention."

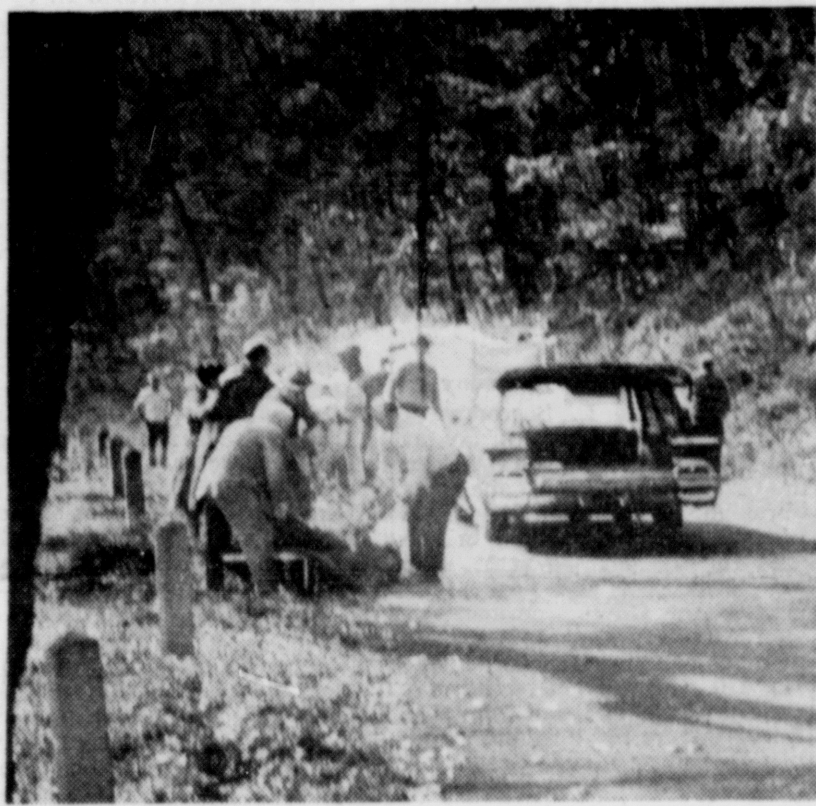

He complained that some of Corbett's remarks were "unwarranted."

BRUSH FIRE CAUSES FATALITY—Several acres of burning woodlands and brush along Hurley Mountain Road near Lomontville, (above) made up the major factor in the death of a Hurley volunteer fireman who was thrown from the rear of a truck answering the alarm. The cause of the fire was undetermined, but fire officials speculate that it was caused by a carelessly thrown cigarette from a passing car. The body of Kenneth Wamsley, 49 of Hurley is being removed (below) by Coroner Francis J. McCordle following the accident shortly after noon Saturday when the victim was hurled from the rear of the fire truck which was reportedly forced to run over a rock ledge on the shoulder to avoid hitting an oncoming unidentified vehicle. Tillson Cider Mill Levelled By Big Blaze

The former Davis cider mill on the Rosendale Plains road near Tillson was destroyed by fire Saturday night. The blaze, which apparently started inside the two-story frame structure, was discovered by two boys who reported the fire to Tillson Fire Department.

Chief Alvah N. Winfield of the Tillson Fire Department said the building was completely enveloped when firemen arrived.

Assistance was sought from Binewater, Cottekill, Rosendale, Rifton and Bloomington departments and because of the dryness of the adjacent woods, the firemen remained on the scene until 8 a. m. Sunday. A smaller structure which was used in years past for storage of apples was saved.

A well known landmark, the old cider mill had not been operated for some 15 to 20 years and was presently owned by Samuel Greenstein of Tillson.

Investigator Roger Gardner of the Kingston State Police station conducted an investigation and later it was reported the cause of the fire was unknown.

A small pond on the premises contained little water and water was hauled by tank trucks to the scene of the blaze. Hose was also attached to a Rosendale fire hydrant which was located some distance from the fire and tank trucks also used water from the hydrant.

At the height of the fire the heat was so intense that a utility pole across the road ignited. Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation was notified and disconnected wires.

Moylan's Ambulance service of Rosendale stood by in case of emergency.

Firemen remained at the scene to protect adjacent woodlots and the property of the Rosendale Plains Cemetery which was tinder dry until all danger of spreading to the woods was over early Sunday morning.

U.N. Team On Own in Viet Nam

Dinh, Nhu Advice Is Being Ignored

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The U.N. mission to South Viet Nam discarded its restricted government itinerary today in an attempt to counter the Diem regime's efforts to keep opposition Buddhists from the fact-finders.

The U.N. team announced it would decide for itself who it will see in its investigation of Buddhist charges of government persecution.

Since its arrival Thursday, the U.N. mission has been briefed by President Ngo Dinh Diem and his powerful brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, and pro-government Buddhist leaders. The government schedule has given the U.N. investigators almost no opportunity to talk with opposition Buddhists or any opposition political group.

Break From Tour

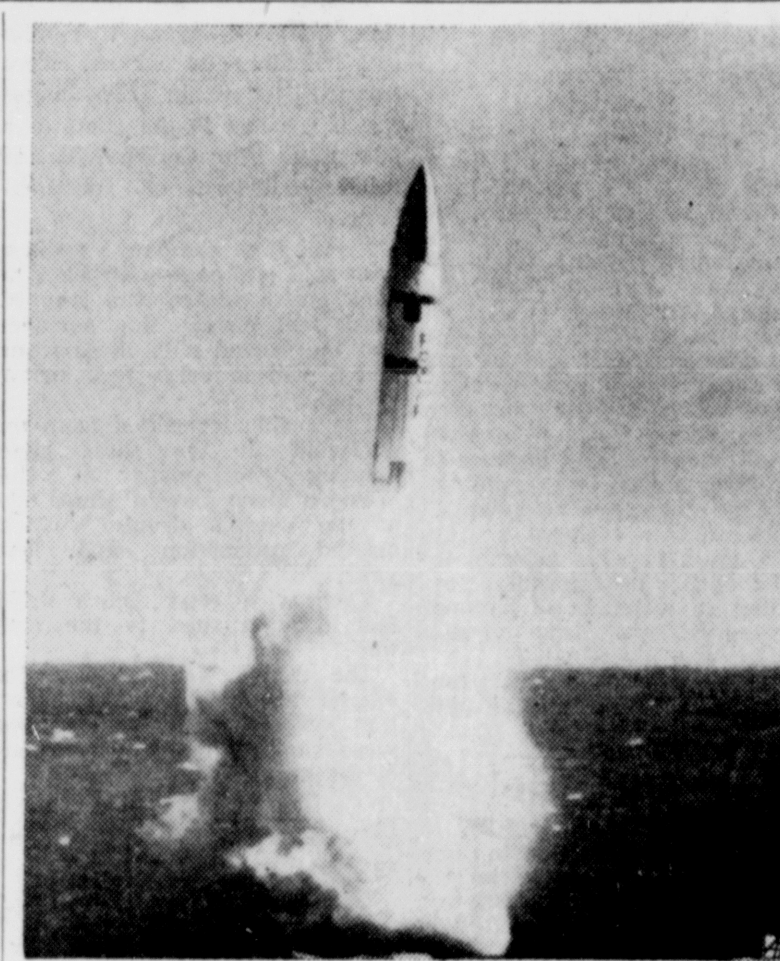

The diplomats decided to break from the tour-like schedule arranged by the government just as another Buddhist monk burned himself to death in front of the Roman Catholic Cathedral Sunday. It was the seventh Buddhist suicide by fire since June, and it was carried out to dramatize the Buddhist charges during the visit by the U.N. team.

Catching government police off guard, the monk arrived by motorcycle, poured gasoline on

Rusk Pledges Troops Staying While Needed

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer
FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, seeking to still West German fears that last week's massive troop airlift foreshadows a military manpower cut, has pledged the United States will keep six divisions in Germany as long as necessary.

At Memorial Dedication Rusk also joined Sunday with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard in an appeal for a strong Atlantic Alliance. Both cautioned against any loosening of ties with the United States.

Rusk and the new West German government leader spoke at the dedication of a memorial honoring the late Gen. George C. Marshall, who as secretary of state gave his name to the economic blueprint known as the Marshall Plan for the recovery of postwar Europe.

Both speakers appeared to be aiming their remarks at President Charles de Gaulle of France, who has warned that one day the United States may decide to withdraw its forces from Europe. He has urged the creation of an independent Europe acting as a third force in world politics.

Sees Need Continuing

Rusk arrived in Germany at the end of last week's exercise Big Lift in which an entire armored division was flown here from Texas in less than three days.

"We have six divisions in Germany," Rusk said.

"We intend to maintain these

State Toll Is 16 For Fall Weekend

A brush fire in Hurley and a chain-saw at Dunkirk were among the factors in accidents that claimed 16 lives in New York State over the weekend.

The Associated Press reported the traffic toll was 13 with three other persons killed in other types of accidents in the period from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

Two Others Hurt

A 49-year-old Hurley volunteer fireman, Kenneth Wamsley, was killed and two other volunteers were injured at about 12:30 p. m. Saturday when the fire truck they were responding to a woods fire, crashed into an embankment on Hurley Mountain Road near Wynkoop Road.

Kingston State Police said Walter Pilz, 39, of Hurley, brother-in-law of Wamsley and operator of the fire truck, apparently was not injured.

Wamsley, troopers said, was standing on the back of the truck with two other firemen, Paul McGuire, 39, and Raymond Foisy, 27, when the truck reportedly struck a boulder. The three men were thrown from the apparatus and Wamsley struck his head on the pavement.

McGuire and Foisy were taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance. McGuire suffered a cerebral concussion and other injuries. Foisy was treated for a spinal whiplash and bruises, authorities said.

Verdict Withheld

It was reported that Ulster County Coroner Francis J. McCordle, withheld a verdict. Authorities said Wamsley died of a skull fracture.

According to reports, Wamsley was helping Pilz move into a new home and as they rode along Route 209 an alarm sounded. Both firemen hurried to the nearby firehouse and Pilz took the driver's seat.

The truck was traveling up the Hurley Mt. Road when an unidentified car appeared from the opposite direction. Pilz, it was reported, made a wide swerve to the right to avoid a collision and the right rear wheel struck a boulder. The three men on the back of the apparatus were thrown to the pavement.

Forecast Is for Another Week Without Much Rain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Another week without heavy rainfall was forecast today for drought-weary New York State, which tasted over the weekend its first sprinkling of rain in 16 days.

The Weather Bureau's five-day forecast, issued this morning, indicated "no appreciable rainfall" this week. Some light showers might fall toward the middle or the end of the week, the bureau said.

A cool front carried gentle showers across Upstate New York Sunday, and light rain fell on the New York City area this morning.

But the rainfall was not sufficient to relieve the continuing forest-fire danger or replenish water supplies sapped by the driest fall weather in the state's history.

Conservation officials were cheered, however, by the decline in the number of forest fires to the lowest total in two weeks.

The cool front also cracked a four-day hot spell that pushed temperatures into the low 80s. While the heat was on, New York City sweltered in temperatures that reached a record 82. Albany had a new high of 79. The record for both cities was 78 in 1947.

Buffalo and Rochester each received .10 of an inch of rain, the first in the state since Oct. 11. Syracuse recorded .04 of an inch.

Albany, where rain had not fallen in a record 23 days, measured only .02 of an inch.

The Conservation Department reported that 21 new fires broke out in woodlands across the state Sunday, raising the total for October to 623.

But the showers helped douse at least 57 fires during the day.

Carroll Reveals Taxpayers' Action

Charges Hurley Uses Town Funds, Equipment on Private Property

A taxpayers' action has been filed in Supreme Court against the Town of Hurley, charging the town with plowing and repairing private roads and property with public funds, it was learned today.

Joseph Carroll, Democratic candidate for the post of town supervisor, said that the court action was filed naming incumbent Republican Charles Relyea and town highway superintendent Harry Battenfeld, as defendants. Plaintiffs in the action were identified by their attorney, Norman Kellar, as Eleanor and Emmet Edwards, of the Maverick Concert Hall Road, and Mrs. Solvej Ellison, of Maverick Road, of the Town of Hurley.

Kellar confirmed that the action was filed in court in September and that application has been made for examination before trial in Ulster County Supreme Court. He said that it was expected that the case would be placed on the Supreme Court calendar for trial at a later date.

Charges Lack of Competitive Bids

Carroll, who made public the court action charging illegal use of town equipment and employees on privately-owned roads, said: "The fact that taxpayers found it necessary to initiate such an action is indicative of the laxity of the present administration and their apparent disregard for law. The State Bureau of Audit and Control have criticized Mr. Battenfeld for his purchases of materials in excess of $1,000 in one year without competitive bidding. They have also criticized Mr. Relyea for his methods in levying taxes—and now we have taxpayers appealing to the courts to restrain the illegal use of town equipment and town employees."

"Hurleyites of all political affiliations are patient people. After being stranded in snow storms in winter, they now learn that the town's snowplows have been plowing private roads. Many have been unable to get home over town snow-covered roads in time for the evening meal because of the delay in removing snow from town roads. The patience of Hurleyites has now been exhausted as evidenced by the taxpayers' suit against Mr. Relyea and Mr. Battenfeld."

Not Filed on "Eve of Election"

Attorney Kellar said that the action charges the supervisor and highway superintendent with using town equipment and town employees to plow and repair private roads on the Maverick Concert Hall Road and to knock down small trees along the road, at the expense of public funds. He noted that the action was filed after meetings with Town Attorney Robert McKinnon, other town officials and other property-owners involved failed to bring satisfaction to his clients. He said it was not something done "on the eve of an election for political reasons." Kellar said he believed this was the first time such an action was brought against the town.

McKinnon represents the defendants and the town in the action.

Elderly Woman Still Critical, Hit By Car on 26th

An 84-year-old Woodstock woman was critically injured early Saturday night when struck by an automobile in front of the Woodstock post office.

Kingston State police reported Maud Steiner, of 111 Tinker Street, Woodstock, was hit by a car driven by Frank Nazzaro, 49, of West Hurley, as she apparently was crossing Route 212 about a mile west of Route 375 in the village of Woodstock.

She was treated at the scene by two physicians and oxygen was administered by Woodstock firemen. Mrs. Steiner was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance, and enroute to Kingston oxygen was administered by ambulance attendants.

Mrs. Steiner suffered a fractured skull, possible internal injuries and a broken ankle, according to a report of Trooper Norman Kilfoyle, Kingston substation, who investigated.

Troopers checked a report that the woman stepped in the path of the vehicle.

Motorist Injured

Stanley J. Petro Jr., 25, of Route 3, Box 69-A, Kingston, operating a car owned by Beverly Castor Petro, same address, was traveling south on old Route 209 at Riverside Park, Town of Hurley, Friday, about 10:15 p. m., when he reported he lost control of the car after an unknown car had forced him off the road. The right front of the car was damaged when it struck a guard rail and eight guard rail posts. Petro suffered head injuries. Deputy Sheriff Jack Seaholm and Emil Kuhn said there were skid marks of the Petro car for a distance of 95 feet on the pavement. The operator of the second car was not known.

75 Miners Are Trapped Today In South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Seventy-five miners, including 10 whites, were trapped today in two cages which crashed in the shaft of a gold mine near Carletonville, 60 miles southwest of Johannesburg.

A mining company spokesman said one cage with 50 Africans and 5 whites was trapped 1,000 feet below the surface, and the second with 15 Africans and 5 whites 5,000 feet below ground.

The accident resulted from an overload in the shaft cage winding mechanism at the Western Deep Levels Mine, one of the world's deepest, which started production early last year.

Four wire ropes, each 6,000 feet long, crashed to the bottom.

The mine's ventilation shafts extend about 10,000 feet below the surface. But both cages were stopped by their emergency brakes.

Dr. King Says Negroes Won't Support Barry

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — If Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., becomes a presidential candidate, he can expect little support from Negroes, says Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

King, in Philadelphia for the ground-breaking of the new Bright Hope Baptist Church, told a news conference Sunday, "Goldwater is not for civil rights. Instead he says 'leave it to the states,' and that means Mr. Barnett and Mr. Wallace."

The reference was to Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi and Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, whose administrations have tried to block racial integration.

Pedestrian Struck

David Foster Connelly of Tillson was taken to Kingston Hospital Friday afternoon after being struck by a car operated by Raymond Osterhoudt, 40, Tillson. He was treated for a bruised ankle and released. Deputy Sheriff Jack Seaholm and Emil Kuhn said the Osterhoudt car was traveling west on Second Street, Tillson, when he observed children playing in the street. He slowed his vehicle and as he was about to pass Connelly darted in front of the car and was struck by the left bumper.

Best Loved Bible Stories For You on Hi-Fi Records

In an age that largely neglects the good old family custom of daily Bible readings, this newspaper has arranged, as a public service during the pre-Christmas season, to offer you a set of long playing records that breathes new life into some of the best-loved stories of the Old and New Testaments.

They have been praised by Protestant, Catholic leaders. Are your children, and are you, really acquainted with such stories as those of Daniel in the Lion's Den, Noah and the Ark, Joseph and His Brethren, Moses and the Promised Land, the Good Samaritan, the Last Supper, and the Birth of Christ?

Whether your answer is yes or no, you will enjoy heartily the dramatizations of these and ten other episodes in the eight, 12-inch, two-sided, long playing hi-fi records.

As a bonus with each record there is a striking four color illustration, 7 1/2 by 10 inches, printed on quality paper and suitable for framing.

The narrator, well known Alexander Scourby, is backed up by a full cast and orchestra.

You will want these records for your home library, and extra copies to send as Christmas gifts to your friends and relatives.

The records bear the imprint of The Power of Faith, Church men have said things like this about them:

"excellent . . . carefully prepared . . . no denominational slant . . . realistic sound effects . . . feeling of participation." Christian Herald (Protestant).

"especially suitable for young people . . . adults will find them inspirational and delightful too." Father McNaspy, America Magazine (Catholic).

"powerful . . . an opportunity to be thrilled again by the unforgettable stories." Rabbi E. T. Sandrow, president of Rabbinical Assembly of America.

The records themselves are quality items for which you would ordinarily pay about $2—if they were available. Actually they can be obtained only through this newspaper.

You can order any one of the records, for $1, or the whole set of eight for $7.50. We'll pay the postage.

To get what you want, fill out the coupon carefully and send it to the address indicated. Allow about three weeks for delivery.

Stresses Outdoor Fires Prohibited In Esopus Town

Outdoor fires of any kind are prohibited and all burning permits previously issued have been cancelled in the Town of Esopus, Town Fire Marshal Harry Mains emphasized today.

All burning in incinerators of all kinds, outdoor barbecues and in barrels is prohibited, he said. Residents who have leaves on their properties should clear them away from buildings.

He stressed the importance of knowing the fire department telephone number. The fire call numbers are listed in the telephone directory under Fire Calls for each district in the township. He emphasized calling the fire department for any fire, no matter how small.

The scheduled burning of leaves under fire department supervision was cancelled Saturday when Forest Ranger Byron Hill called on the public to observe the state-wide ban on burning of any kind.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 28, 1963

SCHWENK'S IMPRESSIVE RECORD

In the 1961 local mayoral election, we expressed the belief that the true interests of the city and its future would be served best through the election of John J. Schwenk. We now hold the opinion without reservation that Mayor Schwenk has furnished us with leadership of the highest quality and that Kingston has moved forward.

A perusal of Mayor Schwenk's administration for the past two years shows a very impressive record, proving that he is eminently qualified, genuinely civic minded and notably courageous. The record further discloses that the Schwenk administration is one of vitality and vision with but one objective: the progress and betterment of the City of Kingston.

If an intelligent vote is to be made, serious thought must be given to past performances—to the record. Here are some of the highlights of the Schwenk record.

Cut property taxes two years in a row.
Kept Kingston's school tax rate from soaring by insisting on special equalization rate for school tax purposes. Stabilized the city's equalization rate in 1962 and gained one point advantage in 1963.

Raised municipal employee salaries for the first time in years.

Restored parking meters to penny and nickel fees.

Completed twice as much street work for half as much money with Dix-Seal.

Built two municipal parking lots in prime business and taxpaying area.

Secured Federal land grant for Kingston Point Park purchase, which with State land grant will give city about 80 acres of waterfront recreation facilities for only five per cent of the acquisition price.

Instituted general program of improved efficiency in city hall and municipal departments, including new centralized payroll accounting system.

Started policy of open competitive bidding for city business, thus saving taxpayers considerable money and granting all businessmen a fair chance to do business with the municipality despite political affiliation.

We are convinced that upon this record Mayor Schwenk should be returned to office to seek a still more efficient means of operation so that a full dollar of service will be had for each tax dollar spent.

With Joseph J. Carroll as alderman-at-large and a majority in the Common Council, the administration and the council will be able to cooperate in achieving timely and progressive legislation.

A POLITICAL LESSON

A newly published biography of an influential senator of about a century ago recalls a fact that is of particular interest as we move toward a presidential election year. It is that three men have missed the presidency by but one vote.

In 1800, Aaron Burr tied Thomas Jefferson in the electoral college and Jefferson was later chosen by the House of Representatives. When Rutherford B. Hayes and Samuel J. Tilden were neck and neck in 1876, the final settlement gave Tilden 184 electoral votes but Hayes got 185 and the presidency. The third man to come so near and yet fail was Sen. Benjamin F. Wade of Ohio, president pro tem of the Senate in 1868. His life has now been written by Prof. H. L. Trefousse of Brooklyn College.

When Vice President Andrew Johnson became president upon the assassination of Lincoln, there was trouble because his views on reconstruction of the defeated South ran counter to those of Congress. That body passed bill after bill over the president's veto, and finally decided to remove him by impeachment. The removal plan was beaten in the Senate by just one vote.

One reason for Johnson's victory was distrust of Wade, who would have been his successor. He was a violent radical who favored severe treatment for the South. On the other hand, his stand for labor antagonized the prevailing conservative sentiment. Also it was thought that as a

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
THE HUNGER FOR CLEAR CHOICES

When Richard Austen—or Rab—Butler was denied the Prime Minister's post in Britain for the second time in seven years by the Conservative Party "establishment," it seemed to many to constitute a rank injustice. For it was Mr. Butler, in company with Iain Macleod, who had done most of the hard dog work that had gone into the post-World War II revitalization of British conservatism. It must have caused Mr. Butler excruciating pain to see the Prime Minister's portfolio go to the relatively unknown Lord Home.

The by-passing of Butler, however, seems to be quite in line with world trends in political affairs, for everywhere there seems to be a hunger for what might be called polarized political representation. In his own way Rab Butler has been an "opening to the Left" man in British conservative circles, which is to say that his political outlines are smudged. He has been against the Laborites and the socialists, yes. But when Butler commenced his work some fifteen years ago of refurbishing the Tory "image" it seemed politically necessary to accept most of the Laborite Welfare State measures. Butler an intellectual, labored hard and long to give Welfareism a conservative twist. But in doing this he incurred the slur that he was a "me too" character. True enough, he talked of preserving a society in which incentives would bulk larger than "fair share" restrictions. But the Butler formulas usually ended in a "yes-but" area—yes, we should encourage private industry, but we must retain the social services to which we have become accustomed.

The Rab Butler "image," then, is of a man of the middle, a centrist. But the centrist everywhere are having difficulty these days. They lose votes in Italy when they bid for socialist support; they get nowhere in de Gaulle's France. It was not so long ago that a Wendell Willkie, a Thomas Dewey, or a non-political General Eisenhower, could marshal the big battalions behind them in fighting for the supreme prize of the American Presidency. These were "modern Republicans," very like the "progressive Conservatives" who constituted the Rab Butler-Iain Macleod wing of the British Tory Party. But in 1963 "modern Republicanism" is like a boat without oars. Goldwater, a man of clear outlines, is drawing more and more young Republicans to his standard while Nelson Rockefeller, an American version of Rab Butler, is having his difficulties.

No doubt there is some flummery and insincerity in the turn toward conservative polarization on the part of both British Tories and American Republicans. But there is sound instinct, too. The world is getting tired of meat-mouthedness. There is a hunger for clear choices. The world is beginning to ask that compromises be made with some regard to general mandates and general philosophical goals. The British Conservative who is willing to compromise toward socialism as a limit is giving way to the Conservative who wants the compromise to go at least a short distance the other way. Lord Home, a man of clear speech, has suddenly become preferable to Rab Butler, the man of blurred edges. And Barry Goldwater, instead of being criticized as a "Neanderthal" for preferring freedom to serenity, is evoking a respect among those who disagree with some of the things he says.

This is not to say that either the British Tories or the American Republicans, if they are to be the rulers in their respective countries throughout the late Nineteen Sixties, will abolish the progressive income tax, get rid of all government controls, and abandon the UN to the Afro-Asian bloc. But it does mean that new "working directions" will be instituted. More and more attempts will be made to mitigate the steepness of progressive taxation in the middle and upper brackets in order to encourage this sort of investment that multiplies into many jobs. As Britain's Foreign Minister, Lord Home took the unprecedented step a few weeks ago of using the UN as a real sounding board for British interests. A conservative Republican in the White House would almost certainly insist on a similar UN policy for America.

Suddenly it is precision in political definition that people are coming to want. The rise of the Lord Home and the Barry Goldwaters in Anglo-American politics is nothing strange. It merely acknowledges a trend.

Keep Infant's Hernia Under Supervision
By WAYNE B. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If your boy or girl under one has a hernia, it is due to a congenital weakness in the pelvic wall that allows the intestines to protrude into the groin.

This is more common in boys than in girls, but in the infant of either sex it rarely causes any symptoms. The condition often corrects itself before the child is two.

Trusses have been used to promote closure to the abnormal opening but they are a cumbersome nuisance and spontaneous cures seem to occur as readily without them as with them.

If the hernia persists after the baby is two, a repair operation should be performed. When a child reaches the age when he is running around the house there is danger that strangulation of the hernia may occur. This means that a loop of intestine becomes trapped in the hernial sac. This is a painful and dangerous complication. An early operation will prevent it.

Q—Our 8-year-old son has Perthes' disease. Please tell us what we can expect for the future for him.

A—Your son has an inflammation of the bone and cartilage of the head of the femur, the long bone of the thigh. It is more common in boys than in girls and usually starts in children between 4 and 10 years of age. There is usually a painful limp that is aggravated by walking. The disease lasts for two to five years, during which time the involved bone and cartilage are replaced with healthy tissue. Complete cure will result if your son is prevented from bearing any weight on the affected side until healing is complete.

If your son will cooperate, as I'm sure he will if he understands the situation, all he will need is a pair of crutches during this period. Your doctor will be able to tell you when complete healing has taken place. Your son should then be able to resume normal use of the affected leg.

Q—How many types of measles are there and what are the symptoms?

A—Confusion about measles often arises because the two kinds are so similar and each has more than one name. When we speak of measles, we usually mean the common or garden variety which is also called rubella. It is characterized by a high fever (104 or 105 degrees), cough, a spotted rash and pain in the eyes when they are exposed to light.

German measles or rubella (which means "little measles") is less severe and is sometimes popularly called three-day measles. It usually starts with a painful swelling of the lymph nodes behind the ears. This is followed by a rash. The fever rarely goes above 101 degrees. There is no cough and no pain in the eyes.

This is, however, the type of measles that causes deformities in babies if the mother has the disease in the early months of her pregnancy.

senator who would become president if Johnson were removed, he should not have voted on the question.

All these arguments combined cost Wade the presidency. And as he had just been defeated for re-election to the Senate, his career was ended. It all comprises an interesting lesson in how issues and attitudes of the day can vitally affect the political fortunes of able men.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Ireland's Prime Minister Sean F. Lemass, visiting this country to promote the Emerald Isle to expansion-minded American industrialists, has repeatedly denied that his trip has any political overtones.

When a reporter asked him, "If Barry Goldwater visited your country would you give him equal time and the same enthusiastic reception you gave President Kennedy last June?" The prime minister answered smoothly, "If he were elected president, yes."

LATEST ANTI-Goldwater gag: "He has been eating so many of his own words lately that he's likely to go into the 1964 campaign with ulcers."

THE PENTAGON takes seriously its job of feeding 30,000 or more people daily.

In addition to the many sandwich lines, snack bars, steamship roast beef lines, regular cafeterias and officers' cafeterias, the Pentagon has an Executive Dining Room, a General and Flag Officers Dining Room, and special kitchens for the Chief of Naval Operations, the Army Chief of Staff, the Air Force Chief of Staff and various service secretaries.

Finally, there's the Bland Food Line, which caters to worriers with ulcers.

REP. ODIN LANGEN, R-Minn., gives this view on the Russian wheat deal:

UNDERSECRETARY of State Averell Harriman picked up a new Khrushchev story during his last visit to Moscow:

THE PRESIDENT of a woman's organization recently wrote Sen. Ken Keating, R-N.Y., asking him to suggest a possible guest speaker for a luncheon. She noted:

"We've just had the privilege of hearing a renowned historian who has told us the past, and we've had a distinguished economist who told us the future. Now only the present is confusing. Whom can you recommend?"

Keating promptly wrote back: "If you ever come up with a guest who can fill this bill, I'd like to attend myself—just to listen."

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Wise said their wedding was performed in the street "because we wanted to keep the marriage a secret." Wise, recalling the ceremony Sept. 14, 1913, near Mountain Home, Ark., said "After the Sunday service we stopped the minister as he was walking down the road. We had our witnesses and he tied the knot right there."

Dollars for Problems Mean More to K Than Moon Shot

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Dollars and sense—with a capital "S" in that third word—applies as a slogan of national policy in the Soviet Union, too. For it's the principal reason why Premier Khrushchev has called off the race to the moon. The Russians simply haven't got the money for the contest and, if the Americans want to go broke on such an adventure, Moscow wishes them "success."

It should have been no surprise to official Washington to read that the Russians have taken themselves out of the moon race. The State Department had more than an inkling of it some time ago. In fact, that's why President Kennedy politely proposed a joint effort to go to the moon.

So Mr. Khrushchev now has had to apply priorities and suspend work on some projects while accelerating others. The result has been chaos in economic planning, as the work on electric-power stations and chemical plants, for instance, has been held in abeyance. British experts who have studied, at first hand, the facts about Russia's economic problems say that, in the face of the crisis in agriculture as well as in the plans for industrial projects, Premier Khrushchev has no choice but to cut down arms spending.

All this points up to a budget of excessive spending by the Soviet government and, of course, without providing any money to go to the moon. Seven days ago in the issue of U. S. News & World Report there appeared a dispatch from London which said: "Soviet officials are hinting that they would like to obtain a U. S. agreement to call off the moon race altogether, rather than face the prohibitive cost of trying to win it."

Certainly there isn't money enough, either, for a big "foreign aid" program now by the Soviets. They are beginning to curtail it. For dangerous pressures are building up within the Soviet Union which are compelling some major changes to be made in spending policy.

Maybe the idea of going to the moon has some scientific value, but it will be noted that Chairman Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in discussing the moon project in a speech the other day, significantly used the word "priorities" in respect to American policy. That's a graceful way of saying that the objectives remain good but that there are other more pressing needs for $5 billion a year supplied, respectively, by the taxpayers in the U. S. and by the overburdened peasants in the Soviet Union than just to find out whether there is any life on the moon.

It's a case of sense finally emerging at the top, whether it be in spending dollars or rubles. First things come first, and a trip to the moon isn't in the cards for either country for many years in the future.

now have been allocated to this scheme alone, as compared with an annual appropriation, heretofore, of $5.5 billion year for the whole agriculture program.

But $12 billion is big money even in the Soviet Union, and the expenditure comes at a time when a huge waste of funds in thousands of industrial projects has been noted. Nearly $30 billion have been poured into this field alone. It's a way of taking care of unemployment, but, as happened in the 1930's in this country, "make work" doesn't last for ever. The progress in the Russian industrial projects has been very slow. While more and more persons have been given jobs, the expected contribution of the industrial projects to the Russian economy as a whole has been realized. Very few projects have been completed.

So Mr. Khrushchev now has had to apply priorities and suspend work on some projects while accelerating others. The result has been chaos in economic planning, as the work on electric-power stations and chemical plants, for instance, has been held in abeyance. Jim Bishop: Reporter

The newest Kids-Are-Funny book is written by a puppeteer named Shari Lewis. It is called — what else? — "Dear Shari" (Stein and Day). I must admit that I know neither Miss Lewis nor her moppets. Until now, I thought that all children's books were written by Arthur Linkletter, wayward son of a minister.

Still, my wife read "Dear Shari" and laughed so hard that she fell back in her chair helplessly and closed the book. So, I grabbed it. It consists of letters from children who watch Miss Lewis on a television show. The illustrations are by Susan Perl, who knows youngsters.

Samples of what makes my wife hysterical:

"My daddy is the chief of police in my town."

"So watch it."

"Billy."

"I'm having a birthday party this week. Mommy said I can invite all my friends. I just want you to know I am not inviting you. Because you never invited me."

Darlene writes: "My daddy said he saw you on a show at night when I was sleeping. And it was a grown up show. Do you turn into a grown up at night?"

Becky says: "Here is my new address. We had to move because my daddy got a new job. He was fired from the last one. Hildie is as honest: 'Last week I was sick and I didn't watch your show. I got better right away.'"

Charles, who is obviously a born flirt, writes: "I saw you on the street yesterday and I think you are just as pretty in person as you are out of person." Michele wants a personal meeting: "Dear Shari: I am coming to New York for my vacation on an airplane. Could you meet me at the airport? I'll be wearing a coat with a flower. And if you're not there you'll see me crying."

"We had to write in school about what our favorite television program is," writes Amy Beth, "and why we like it. I wrote yours but I didn't know why. Why?" Billy, on the other hand, is a boy I can admire. "How much allowance do you think I should get for a week," he writes, "and don't forget my father can afford it."

"I got my report card today," Wendy writes. "I got excellent in everything and the teacher said I could be the blackboard eraser all week. I hate that." Fannie has a jaded view of the same subject: "We got our tests back and I was the smartest kid in the class. All the other kids are stupid. Ha ha on them."

"Mommy says you got married," Georgianna says, "and if I write to you I should say that you should have lots of luck. Is anything wrong?" Another one writes, presumably a bit later: "How come you got a baby? I would have lived with you and I have manners and everything."

"When I grow up I want to be just like you when you grow up." That one is from Amelia. I could make a girl friend of Sandra. She writes: "Writing isn't hard. It's just drawing words." Robin asked Shari to come to her summer camp. "I'll teach you how to make a belt and you can even have half of my counselor."

I find Wendy slightly confusing. "I know how bad it is to be little. But don't worry. Someday when you are old as me you'll be my age." On the other hand, I dig little Jane. "I am 8," she writes, "and I think I should have half coffee and half milk by now. My mommy says I'm too young, and the coffee will keep me awake at night. What happens at night?"

Roger writes: "How old do you have to be to have babies? Could you have them if you're only two? My Cat is going to be two." Another writes: "Here is a riddle. How many eyes in Missipi? Give up? Nine." "My daddy is a dentist," says Henry. "You need braces."

Jessica has a desperate problem. "My daddy says I can watch your program on Saturday morning if I keep the sound turned down low so he can sleep. Do you think you could talk just a little louder?" Barry must be small. "Our television set broke," he writes, "and the man came and took it away. I told him to be very careful, not to hurt you when he carried it. Are you all right?"

Joanne gives Miss Lewis the ultimate accolade: "I got a turtle for my birthday and I'm going to name you after it." Laurie needs a slight talk: "I have a dog named Hush Puppy and he just had 5 babies. They were all puppies. I wanted one to be a kitty."

On the other hand, little Arnold is brighter than he appears to be. "We got a parrot last week and my daddy can say everything he can already."

Verbal Dual Over New Cancer Drug

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A verbal duel over Krebiozen's value as a cancer drug has erupted from a cold war over medical quackery.

Despite a decision by federal authorities that the serum is worthless, Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, Krebiozen sponsor, challenged the president of the American Medical Association Friday night to a debate on the drug. Dr. Edward Annis, AMA president, declined, saying he would not provide a platform for what he called "any proponent of a fraud."

The challenge is tied to two concurrent meetings in Washington hotels two miles apart.

In one, the AMA and the U.S. Food and Drug Administration are sponsoring the second national congress on medical quackery — its announced purpose to focus public attention on quacks.

In the other hotel, an organization called the National Health Federation is holding a national congress on health monopoly—to reply and rebut the AMA and FDA.

At the quackery congress, Annis called Krebiozen "one of the greatest frauds of the 20th Century."

In a telegram to Annis, Ivy denied that Krebiozen is a fraud and claimed scientific confirmation that it is effective in treating cancer.

High School Art Department Gets Evaluation

In the recent evaluation by the Middle States Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, the committee of educators was impressed by excellence of the arts and crafts curriculum at New Paltz High School which they said offered unusual opportunities for students in a school of this size.

Although they felt that the visual arts and mechanical drawing should eventually be placed in a definite area of the principal building, they nevertheless indicated that the art area at the Hasbrouck House "...is, indeed, unique and quite likely unlike any other in the state. Contributing to the significance of the exciting study of the arts, we find a classroom situation which has become an art teacher's utopia—a studio which creates an atmosphere that personifies art, performance and satisfaction.

"This program is so comprehensive in every art area that it is almost unbelievable—dynamic and moving for all students of grade levels from seven through 12. The students are fortunate to have an instructor of superior qualifications, experience, personality and enthusiasm. The procedures and the resourcefulness of the instructor is further augmented by the assistance of Carl Reed, nationally recognized artist, art educator, critic and author of several books in art education.

"The curriculum leaves no area of art unexplored or unworked. The students glow with exuberant satisfaction and delight with their development and experience—a tribute to the instructional staff and the support and approval by the Administration. It is, indeed most regrettable that the art area is isolated from the main building because it makes it difficult for most of the school population to observe the moving program.

"The community, school and administration should appreciate their good fortune in having such a rich and forceful program."

Council Drive

The Student Council at New Paltz High School is again sponsoring a magazine subscription campaign. A goal of $2500 has been set.

The council will receive 30 to 50 per cent of the proceeds, depending upon the magazine, less half the cost of the awards. The money will be used to carry on activities of the council which include a $300 scholarship to a graduate, spectator buses to away athletic events and dances throughout the school year.

The campaign was kicked off at an assembly which featured Robert Gillespie of the Curtis Publishing Company. A total $1095 was collected during the first three days. Barbara Abrams, a sophomore, was the high salesgirl on the first day. She received a pelican pinanna bag. Mike Linacre, an eighth grader was the high first day says

It was interesting to read that there are more than 63 million cars on the highways in Canada and the U.S., which means about one car for every 3 persons. By our calculation, at 5 wheels each (including the spare) there are now more 'big wheels' than people, so the next time you see a 'big wheel' you can deflate him with that shattering fact. Here you'll find nobody going around in circles, just friendly folks, eager to serve you.

traced the history and development of the College Entrance Examination. The program was concluded with a luncheon.

Art Lectures

A series of three lectures on landscape painting will be given in the Hasbrouck House for students studying art at New Paltz Central School. The lectures will be given by Mrs. William Pfeifferberger.

Mrs. Pfeifferberger is an art historian who holds the MA degree in the History of Art from the Institute of Fine Arts of New York University, and will be granted the PhD by Bryn Mawr College this coming spring. She is assistant professor of art at the State University College, New Paltz. The first lecture was given Friday, during the third period.

Fund Campaign

The music staff of the New Paltz Central School announces that the annual fund raising candy sale, will be held at the end of the month. The music staff is an association composed of the officers or representatives from all the school's student music activities. Money raised from this sale by the music staff is used to cover student music expenses not included in the budget, such as music awards and membership dues in the New York State School Music Association.

Drill Team Performs

The drill team of New Paltz High School drilled for the first time this year at the New Paltz-Walkkill football game. The group will be drilling at all home basketball and football games. There are 32 members, as follows: Carol Bond, drill leader; Linda Dyer, president; Jane Redfern, vice president; Nancy Culver, secretary - treasurer; Tony Burkhardt, representative to the music staff; Chris Bailey, Marlene Bank, Diane Campbell, Wendy Carlsen, Beth Carvey, Connie Coulter, JoAnn Deyo, Susan Humphrey, Jeanne Jansen, Gloria Kinnamoon, Ann Livolsi, Betty Livolsi, Mary Lou Lynch, Elise Martinez, Petra Orlovsky, Nancy Parker, Rosina Polizotti, Kathy Riche, Corliss Robertson, Maggie Rode, Cathy Roth, Pat Shelby, Jackie Stone, Bonnie Thoben, Donna Traver, Karen VanAken and Arlene Wilson. Paul Steiner, instrumental music instructor, is advisor to the drill team.

Matter for Top Billing This Week In U. S. Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign aid, civil rights and the Robert G. Baker case have top billing this week as Congress drags into its 11th month.

The major floor activity will be in the Senate, which expects to take all week or longer considering the annual bill authorizing the foreign aid program. The big fight will be over the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's restoration of about $700 million cut from the bill by the House, which earlier approved a $3.5 billion program. Still to be acted on by both branches is a separate measure putting up the money to finance the air program.

Whether a civil rights bill will be passed this year may be determined Tuesday by the House Judiciary Committee. Before the committee is a far-reaching measure that goes beyond the rights program supported by the administration.

Used GI Bill

CHICAGO (AP) — A total of 7,800,000 World War II veterans, more than half the total of 15 million who served, received education and training under the GI Bill.

The Veterans Administration says it also made grants totaling $69.2 million to provide special housing for paraplegics. The VA says that veterans have proved to be extraordinarily fine credit risks in loans for homes, launching business and rehabilitation.

The 1964 Ulster County Community Chest Campaign officially ends tomorrow night. To date $146,872.64 has been raised toward our goal of $195,000.

While final reports are expected to increase the above total, it, nonetheless, seems apparent that the projected total will fall short of our goal.

Such a result would be unfortunate.

Unfortunate indeed, because it is we, the residents of Ulster County who would be penalized. Certain indispensable services — in health, family and child welfare, recreation and community planning must be provided if our community is to be a good one. Our 1964 goal is a realistic one based on an absolute minimum need for these services.

The people listed on these pages are your friends and neighbors who have given freely of their time these past weeks to make this Ulster County Community Chest Drive successful.

Won't you please help them — and yourself — by giving your fair share in this final '64 chest appeal?

Remember — your community will be what you want it to be; help us help you!

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Television, ever eager to bring blasphemous new experiences, sometimes takes a tumble.

It is doubtful whether television can ever persuade us that it is more fun to look at a party than to go to one. NBC tried to Sunday night and failed.

The "April in Paris Ball" in New York Friday night looked like a pretty dull affair from my armchair, but maybe it simply defied the cameras. A taped account occupied an hour of air time.

The formal entertainment consisted of music by such entertainers as Liza Minnelli, Frank Sinatra Jr. and Peter Duchin, all bright young second-generation talents, but it was the sort of thing to be found almost any night on a TV variety show.

Lisa Kirk, who acted as sort of hostess and guide mentioned all the debutante and society people supposed to be there, but never spoke of anybody by name. She also said it was the most expensive ball in the country—but didn't say what the tickets cost.

There were a few great moments for women drivers. In a fashion show we saw a coat made of—and I quote Miss Kirk—Chinese rooster feathers.

Jack Paar, who has been quietly — too quietly — hosting a weekly variety show for a year or so now, showed some of his old spunk and temper Friday night.

He took a few mean swipes at the comedy show, "Harry's Girls," which precedes him on NBC. He sneered at the quality of the show's scripts and suggested that his own show was suffering because of its small audience.

"Harry's Girls" is already in trouble. There is talk that NBC or a sponsor would like Paar to take over the time. That would make it TV's first 90-minute variety show. NBC says "no comment" so perhaps a deal is in the making.

"Sunday," a new afternoon hour, had its NBC premiere Sunday.

There was little news, a short feature on Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, another on drinking in Washington. It talked of books, music, architecture and touched everything from the Eastern dry spell to NBC's way of censoring its programs. It covered too much too fast, and probably will shake down to some sort of a format in a few weeks.

Recommended tonight: "Hollywood and the Stars," NBC, 9:30-10 (EST)—biography of the late Al Jolson, star of the first talking picture; "East Side, West Side," CBS, 10-11, story of a retarded youth.

Names In the News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—More girl cosmonauts are in training in the Soviet Union "and if I may say so, they are beautiful girls," says Valentina Tereshkova.

The Soviet space girl told a televised news conference Sunday night that future Soviet space ships will have mixed crews of men and women — "otherwise the men would get bored."

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Capt. John R. McKone, who spent seven months as a prisoner of the Soviet Union, will attend the Air Force Command and Staff School at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., starting in September.

McKone, 31, and Capt. Freeman B. Olmstead were the only survivors of an RB47 reconnaissance bomber crew shot down by the Soviets in 1960. They were released seven months later.

NEW YORK (AP)—Gifts to the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts stood at $142.5 million today following the setting up by Harold S. Vanderbilt of a $750,000 trust designated for the family circle section of the new Metropolitan Opera House.

Vanderbilt, 79, retains the interest from the trust until his death, when it will go to the center. Until that time, the center may borrow for construction using the trust as collateral.

MANILA (AP)—The award of a Pulitzer Prize in 1941 to author-diplomat Carlos P. Romulo was commemorated today with a black and gold plaque at the entrance to the Philippines Herald where he once worked as a reporter and editor.

Romulo received the Pulitzer Prize for a series of articles on Asia shortly before the outbreak of the Pacific war.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—President Kennedy is scheduled to address a $100-a-plate Democratic dinner Wednesday in support of Mayor James H. J. Tate, running for a full four-year term.

Rep. William J. Green Jr., D-Pa., said the President would attend a reception just before the dinner.

Upstate Newsman Dies

OGDENSBURG, N.Y. (AP)—Arthur S. Draper, 81, former assistant editor of the New York Herald Tribune and one-time editor of the now-defunct Literary Digest, died Friday in a hospital here.

Killed by Family Car

ST. EUGENE, Ont. (AP)—Mona Holcombe, 2, of Massena, N.Y., visiting here with her parents, was run over and killed Sunday as her father was reversing his car, police said.

The father, Warren Holcombe, took Mona to a hospital where she died about 30 minutes later from skull and neck fractures.

The Holcombe family was staying with friends Mr. and Mrs. Archie LeDuc.

St. Eugene is about 35 miles northeast of Cornwall, three miles from the Quebec border.

Army statistics show that inductees today are an inch and a quarter taller and 18 pounds heavier than the doughboys of the First World War.

Drunk? Disorderly? Or Just Plain Sick?

There he goes, weaving and stumbling down the street. Drunk, intoxicated, clobbered, stoned? Epithets are easy—but it's better not to judge without knowing the facts.

Here's a fact. Doctors warn that certain illnesses or the after-effects of surgery can duplicate exactly the effects of alcohol and narcotics.

Diabetics, for example, can suffer clouded consciousness, slurred speech, incoordination that keeps them from walking a straight line. Before they pass out, they may appear to be "looking for a fight." The danger is that they may fall unconscious, be neglected, and fail to get the insulin they need.

Similar dangers may result from other diseases, including some pulmonary ailments. In emphysema—a disease in which stale air is trapped in the lungs —the blood may accumulate carbon dioxide until a state of intoxication is reached, clouding the victim's mind, thickening his speech, even leaving him unconscious.

Dizzy spells, confusion, shakiness and nausea—all these may come from hypertension aggravated by a hard day at the office or at home with noisy children. Conditions accompanying age can mimic intoxication. Senile folks may act as though they've had too much to drink. And delayed but serious effects can come from a blow on the head.

That's why police have been alerted to think twice before they slap a "drunken driving" charge on some unsteady-acting person who's been involved in an accident. That's why judges are more sensitive to the serious danger of consigning to the hoosegow, cut off from medical treatment, someone who seems to be drunk but may actually be seriously ill.

If you're in doubt—or even if you're not—don't automatically assume that someone who acts the part in drunk. At best, it would be unkind. At worst, it could be fatal.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by the Ulster County TB and Health Association, Inc., 124 Green Street.

Not What They Sought

CADIZ, Ky. (AP) — Laster Hite was passing the hole where drillers were seeking water for his dairy herd. The hole had started to fill with water when Hite threw in a match. Hite said, after the explosion, he might not have pure water for his cows but he had a gas well to provide illumination for milking.

Today's Business Mirror

By JACK LEFLER

AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — A new concept of plant location—regionalization—has taken hold in American industry.

Early this century industry was primarily concentrated in the urban areas, especially in the northeastern section of the country.

A move to the suburbs, which began just before World War II to achieve straight-line production and expansion, was accelerated in the 1940s by decentralization of defense industries.

Emphasis on Markets

Now industry is setting up production units close to regional markets instead of shipping manufactured goods to consumers from plants traditionally located near sources of supply.

Leonard Yaseen, senior partner of Fantus Co., international plant location consultants, says the emphasis has been placed on markets rather than raw materials.

"Changes in market patterns across the country are forcing manufacturers to serve population concentrations from new facilities geared to the needs of each specific region," he says.

Here are some examples: The Hershey Chocolate Co., which has always manufactured its products in Hershey, Pa., is breaking ground for a plant 3,000 miles west in Oakland, Calif. Hershey was faced with high transportation costs in reaching the important western market.

A few months ago, Owens-Illinois Glass Co., which had operated out of plants in Ohio and Oklahoma, opened new glass-making facilities in North Bergen, N.J., and Atlanta, Ga. Its natural gas and glass sand sources are mainly in Ohio and Oklahoma.

Others Act

The American Can Co. of New York has constructed a plastics container manufacturing unit at Shelbyville, Tenn., and the A.H. Wirz Co. of Chester, Pa., manufacturer of toothpaste tubes, erected a plant at Carrollton, Ky.

Otis Elevator, Inc., is opening a plant in Bloomington, Ill., and Mattel, Inc., a California-based toy manufacturer, has opened a plant in Keyport, N.J.

Yaseen says the trend to regionalization must be sound when the nation's largest industry—automobiles—now has assembly plants in every major U.S. region. Breweries, he says, also point up the trend with almost every major beer company establishing regional facilities.

Yaseen adds that almost every new industrial job created in the Eastern Central states is now counterbalanced by the hiring of another production worker in the West or South.

Librarians Seek Supervisor Post Replacements

A resolution calling for the immediate appointment of "at least six supervisors" in New York State school libraries "at salaries commensurate with the said positions," was adopted at a meeting of about 60 Ulster, Orange and Sullivan county librarians in the Columbia Hotel at Hurleyville.

The resolution, which is to be sent to James Allen, state education commissioner, said that "since the retirement of school library supervisors, Miss Anna Clark Kennedy in 1961 and Mrs. Ruth Evans Babcock in 1963, no one had been appointed to fill these vacancies and the school libraries of New York State were without a voice or representation in the State Education Department." It was further stated that "since the growth in numbers and importance of said libraries at least six supervisors should be appointed immediately at salaries commensurate with the said positions."

A discussion of new children's books was led by Mrs. Jolly Beye Ruff of the Ontario Elementary School. Committee reports of other state and local organizations were given by Mrs. Frances Clark, Mrs. Lora Long, Mrs. Shirley Gardiner, Mrs. Alice Gutter, and Miss Lorraine Keller.

Miss Margaret Wood of the Wallkill Central High School was chairman of the group and Miss Helen Gottschalk of the Monroe-Woodbury High School was the recorder.

Miss Gene Thorsen of Boston University, in discussing the newest trends in school library service, noted the development of libraries into materials communications centers, use of automatic cataloging and retrieval services and more efficient methods of relaying information.

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A sign in downtown Tulsa advertises the "Tulsa Tour," a drive which leads to points of tourist interest. It directs the tour-taker north on Cincinnati Avenue. But, a sharp-eyed Tulsan noted, Cincinnati is a one-way street—southbound.

Traffic Accidents Take 31,170 Lives In Nine Months

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Safety Council said today 31,170 persons have died in traffic accidents the first nine months this year, establishing a record.

The figure is a 6 per cent increase over the first three quarters of 1962, when 29,540 traffic fatalities were recorded.

The 3,970 traffic victims in September also shattered a record for that month set last year when 3,640 persons died on the nation's highway, a 9 per cent increase.

September was the 21st month of the last 23 which have shown death increases from corresponding months a year earlier.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

I wonder how many readers read Pauline Hommell's "Tea Cup Tales", which is folklore all about Ulster County, and the Hudson Valley the average resident knows. Now she has written "Class Dismissed" which mothers and teachers will enjoy, I think. Miss Hommell is a native of Saugerties-on-the-Hudson, a retired teacher, and member of local historical and folklore societies. Her new book is small, only 144 pages, and would make a fine gift. It can be had from the Kingston City Library. I wish once a month or so, a local book author could bring her book and herself of course to meet interested readers to our local libraries. I never met Miss Hommell, although I have heard from her by note and phone. She taught in all sorts of schools, from one-room to the large central systems in her some 40 years, and she taught all grades from kindergarten to junior high. She writes that in her day, "teachers were not made, but they were born. You either could teach or you couldn't." Her stories are short and to the point, and she describes many of her students as children in her class and then what happened to them in years to come. There were doctors, and soldiers, and those who never came back. Names are there. I do not remember receiving "room service" such as she gave, that is of dressing the youngsters, finding their clothes, etc. In my time if you buttoned your clothes wrong, that's the way you came home. If you put the left overshoe on the right foot, then you hobbled home and wondered why. Sweaters, and coats, and hats were put in the cloak room, and when class was dismissed it was our problem. When someone was bad he was put in the cloak room, and sometimes he tied our clothes together, which gave him something to do and something for us to undo.

In the Jan. 11, 1966 Kingston Freeman the following item appeared: "Mrs. William Lounsbury has placed in the Kingston City Library a collection of books and papers of the Ulster County Historical Society collected many years ago. The late William Lounsbury was librarian of the Society for years and was custodian of the library at the time of his death. The collection includes about 150 volumes of historical matter gathered prior to 30 years ago, when the society disbanded. Much of it consists of documents of the Colonial history of the country and state, genealogical matter and files of county newspapers."

In this same paper of Jan. 11, 1966, "an item on City Judge Morschauer of Poughkeepsie, in which he received from the State Board of Health a letter saying that midwives do not require a license to practice, but they are required to register all births. It seems one midwife occasioned the inquiry, complaining that another midwife was practicing without a "diploma" and "cutting prices which the first midwife established through long monopoly." Sometimes one has looked for a birth certificate of those early 1900 days here or in Poughkeepsie and found no registration of birth. Perhaps the above explains it.

I read in the Sunday Times, that some 400,000 children still

• BRIDGEFourth Hand Bid Is Good Bet

By OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Every bid in bridge is in the nature of a bet. In my newest book, "Oswald Jacoby on Gambling," the bridge chapter discusses the odds for and against various bids.

In discussing fourth hand bids it points out that any time you think you have the best hand at the table it is a good bet to open the bidding in fourth position. You won't win every one of these bets, but you will win more than you lose.

When you have a doubtful fourth hand opening a most frequent consideration is the spade suit. If you have spades you have the top suit and it is going to be hard for your opponents to compete successfully.

Thus, South's fourth hand opening is a good bet because he has spades. North's jump to four spades is not a good bid as the cards lie. East and West can take the first four tricks, but West has to make some opening lead and this West to chose to open his singleton diamond. This enabled South to run off 10 tricks and make his contract.

South's bet would have been worse if East and West had found a way to get into the bidding. They can make five odd in either hearts or clubs, but West did not feel like sticking his neck out at the two level and East surely couldn't afford to act after the four spade bid.

To Open Wallkill Prison Job Bids

Bids on water supply improvement, new well-houses and piping at Wallkill Prison, Wallkill, will be opened at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday, Oct. 30 at the State Department of Public Works Administration and Engineering Building on the State Campus, Albany. It was announced today.

J. Burch McMorran, superintendent of public works, said the prison project was one of 15 projects for construction, repairs and alterations to various state-owned facilities. Other area projects include construction work for alterations to two buildings at the Short Term Adolescent Resident Training facility at Amentia in Dutchess County, and separate proposals covering construction, heating, sanitary and electric work for a similar facility at Middletown, Orange County.

Sofa So Good

ROSWELL, N. M. (AP) — Michael Mack Keller, 15, can find the softest places to land. He was thrown from his motor scooter one afternoon and after turning a somersault, he landed squarely on a soft divan being transported on the bed of a truck. But even with his good luck, Michael suffered a broken knee, believed to have been injured when he hit the handlebars during the flip.

Main Discussion About Schools in Neighborhood

SYRACUSE, N. Y. AP — The issue of the neighborhood school was at the center of a controversy today among delegates to the 44th annual convention of the New York State School Boards Association.

The question was one of many to be considered by the 4,000 delegates attending the three-day convention, which opened Sunday.

David H. Jaquith, a member of the Syracuse school board and Conservative Party candidate for governor last year, criticized the state education commissioner's definition of a racially imbalanced school.

Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. has defined as racially imbalanced any school having an enrollment that is 50 per cent or more Negro.

"I think the commissioner's apparent position is ill-conceived, ill-considered, illogical and I hope it will prove to be illegal," Jaquith said during a panel discussion.

He referred to Allen's directive calling for an end to racial imbalance in the state's public schools.

Otis E. Finley Jr., associate director of the National Urban League, said:

"There is nothing sacrosanct about the neighborhood school concept. A Negro neighborhood is an artificial neighborhood, in itself unrealistic."

As for eliminating racial imbalance, Dr. John H. Fischer, president of Columbia University Teachers College, cautioned that "we ought not fall into the trap of trying to do the impossible immediately in order to do right."

Gas Storage Barn Burns

POTSDAM, N.Y. (AP)—Fire Sunday destroyed a barn used for storing tanks of propane gas in the middle of the residential section of this northern New York city.

Flames shot about a hundred feet in the air as 8,000 pounds of the gas, contained in 100 tanks, burned.

ATTEND REGIONAL SALES MEETING—

Filtration technology keynoted the regional WGB Oil Clarifier, Inc. two-day regional sales meeting held at the Hotel Kirkland Thursday and Friday when a new colorful packaging was introduced. Speakers Heard On Oil Filters

William G. Burhans, founder and president of WGB Oil Clarifier, Inc., whose plant is located on Cornell Street, welcomed the representatives of the company from the WGB sales territory east of the Mississippi. Hollis Burhans, executive vice president and sales manager, introduced the new marketing and promotional programs for WGB's line of oil, air and fuel filters as well as replacements in their new colorful packaging.

Wendell Gray, chief engineer of WGB, described and explained the function of the new WGB full flow oil filter with the use of charts. Gray emphasized the importance of filtration in terms of engine life and performance. To underscore the vital part that filtration plays, he introduced filtration specialists Joseph J. Fahey and John H. Wetherell Jr., engineers for PMS Inc., a chemical analysis firm specializing in oil analysis. Fahey, renowned author and filtration researcher, claimed that now after years of compiling statistics from thousands of oil analysis in the past few years, established filtration as a science in the selection and use of filtering devices. Fahey said that many fleet operators are using too much, and conversely, too little. The correct selection of filtering devices is determined by the type of fuel, oil grade, working conditions, temperature and atmospheric conditions. Only analysis can indicate the correct choice. The correct equipment can reflect huge dollar savings in terms of greater engine life and reduced maintenance.

The WGB Clarifier, Inc. firm recently announced the acquisition of additional quarters for storage space in addition to its factory plant located at 111 Cornell Street. Expanding business of the Kingston concern made necessary the acquisition of additional space.

Rains Pay Brief Visit to Penna.

HARRISBURG (AP) — Rain paid a brief visit to Pennsylvania Sunday, but after it had departed, the drought still lingered on.

Meanwhile, the U.S. weather bureau at Harrisburg said the preliminary forecast calls for the precipitation to return either Monday night or Tuesday.

However, it is not expected to offer much relief at the moment for the parched lands and communities of the commonwealth.

The amount of rainfall Sunday varied from .45 of an inch at Erie to .012 at Blairsville and Williamsport.

Chatterton Canvases On View to Nov. 17th

An exhibition of some 30 representative canvases by C. K. Chatterton, professor emeritus and artist-in-residence at Vassar College, is now on view in the Taylor Hall Art Gallery on the Campus. It will be open to the public through Nov. 17. Gallery hours are weekdays and Saturday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.; and Sunday afternoons from 2 to 5 o'clock.

The Chatterton canvases include scenes of the Hudson River Valley and of Maine coast towns. They range in period from 1910 to the present. The group does not include the original of the "House on the Cliff," which now hangs in the Brooklyn Museum and has become widely known as a print.

Mr. Chatterton studied at the New York School of Art under William Chase, Robert Henri, Louis Mora, and Kenneth Hayes Miller, along with his friends and contemporaries, George Bellows, Rockwell Kent and Edward Hopper. He is famous for his interest in the play and pattern of light which he has captured as no other painter has. He was a pioneer in the discovery of the architecture of "small-town America" as the subject of beauty and of art.

THANKING SENDERS OF WEDDING PRESENTS

Q: I am getting married shortly and have a question I would like answered. At the reception, there will be wedding favors at each place at the table. Attached to these favors is a tag reading, "Thank you for coming to our wedding" and the names of the bride and groom printed below. Is it necessary, in addition to this, to write thank-you notes for the gifts we receive, or will this suffice? Some say we should and others say it is not necessary. May I please have your opinion?

A: The "thank you for coming to our wedding" tags cannot possibly take the place of handwritten thank-you notes which you must write to everyone who sends you a present.

The Salad Plate

Q: When salad is served on a separate plate with the meat course, where should the plate be placed? Everyone seems to take for granted that it belongs on the left but I think it should be on the right. In my opinion, there is not only less space on the left if a bread-and-butter plate is used but it is also awkward to reach across the dinner plate to eat the salad. What do you have to say about this?

A: When salad is served with the meat course, the salad plate is correctly placed at the left of the dinner plate. The bread-and-butter plate is above the salad plate and does not interfere with it.

Bridegroom an Air Force Lieutenant

Q: I am going to marry a man who is a lieutenant in the air force. I would like to know how his name should be engraved on the wedding invitations. Should it be Mr. John Smith or Lieutenant John Smith?

A: His name is engraved as follows:

John Smith
Lieutenant, United States Air Force

The clothes of the bride's and groom's parents as well as those of the wedding guests are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Correct Clothes for a Wedding Reception." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of The Freeman.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Take It From Kathy

Dear Kathy: At the moment I'm going steady with a very nice boy and don't want to break up with him. I guess I'm at the stage where people claim all girls are boy-crazy.

My boy friend hardly ever comes over now, so when his back is turned I usually look at other boys hoping I'll be asked to go steady with someone else. Am I a two-timer or what's the matter with me? Is it just because I'm temporarily a little boy-crazy? — TROUBLES

Dear Troubles: You seem to have the idea that a girl has to go steady in order to date. It's really the other way around. Dating should lead to going steady after a lot of thinking.

A date life, not a steady, that's what you need. While you're still looking around, enjoy BOYS, not just one boy. The fact that you like boys isn't bad. If it means being boy-crazy, you have lots of company. Promising to be faithful when you intend to keep right on window shopping — that's two-timing.

Balzarini-Machione Wedding Is Announced; Ceremony Takes Place at St. Mary's Church

Miss Dorothy Balzarini, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emilio Balzarini of Church Street, Saugerties, exchanged marriage vows before a nuptial mass at St. Mary of the Snow, Saugerties, with Joseph P. Machione, son of Mrs. Agnes Machione of Glasco and the late Lawrence Machione.

The wedding took place on Saturday, Oct. 19 at 11 a. m. with the Rev. Joseph Hamilton, assistant pastor, officiating. Mrs. Charles Dickman was the organist.

Gold vases of white chrysanthemums and pompons decorated the altar. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and silk bombazine over bridal taffeta. It was fashioned with a scalloped neckline trimmed with iridescent sequins and tiny seed pearls, long tapered sleeves, at fitted bodice and floor length bouffant skirt. Lace ruffles accented the skirt which was chapel length in back. Her veil of wide English tulle was shirred to a headpiece of seed pearls and Swedish cut crystals. The bride carried a cascade of white carnations and gladioli.

Eileen Balzarini, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a fiesta pink peau gown in floor length sleeves and a bell skirt. Matching fiesta velvet trimmed the waistline and back skirt panel. A chapel veil was held by a crown of lace and crystals. She carried a nosegay of deep pink and blue carnations with white baby's breath.

Jean Migliorini, of New York City, cousin of the bride, Lorraine Machione of Glasco, sister of the bridegroom, Jeanne Krusher of Glenierie and Jane Carn of Saxton, N. Y., served as bridesmaids. Their gowns and headpieces were identical to that worn by the maid of honor except in French blue. They carried nosegays of deep pink carnations and white baby's breath.

Michael Mayone of Glasco was best man. Ushering were Gaby DePaola, Fred Gentile and Joseph Roberti, all of Glasco, and Kenneth Cavaliero of New York City.

A reception was given in The Flamingo for 200 guests. Afterwards the couple left for Canada. The bride wore a beige ensemble and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Machione was graduated from Saugerties High School and is employed by First Federal Savings and Loan Association, this city. Her husband, an alumnus of Saugerties High and St. Francis College, Brooklyn, is employed by the U. S. Government.

Home Extension Service News

Phyllis W. Barlow, county home demonstration agent, submits the following article:

When Columbus discovered America, according to historians, he found a land rich in natural resources but none of many delicious foods we simply take for granted today.

Except for certain berries and the turkey, say U. S. Department of Agriculture experts, just about all of our food plants and animals originated in other countries.

Columbus carried barley, wheat, sugar cane, and grapes on his second voyage west. Indians brought corn, pumpkins, squash, beans, potatoes, sweet potatoes, and tomatoes from Central and South America. Cherries, apples, plums, rye, and lentils came from the Near East, rice from India, and citrus fruits from Burma.

When the first settlers arrived here, the dog was the Indian's only domestic animal. European emigrants brought cattle, sheep, and hogs from their native countries.

It would have no doubt thrilled old Chris to have visited a modern supermarket — and see the abundant, luscious fresh fruits and vegetables, frozen, canned, and dehydrated foods, packaged steaks and chops, and chicken ready to pop into the frying pan. He wouldn't have known, of course, that research was responsible for these attractive, nutritious, and good-tasting foods.

From the few seeds Columbus brought over to the thousands of seeds recently brought back by the first U. S. plant expedition to the Himalayas, explorers have combed the world for plants and animals to use in developing high-yielding crops and livestock that will produce the kinds of products consumers want.

To satisfy preferences of the American homemaker, scientists have changed the flavor, size, shape, or nutritive quality of fruits, vegetables, meat, and poultry. They have "tailored" for her the small turkey, the broiler, and the meat-type hog. They're working to develop beef cattle with a higher proportion of lean, tender beef; dairy cows that will produce milk with more solids and less fat, and hens that will lay eggs with longer lasting fresh qualities.

we are the best-fed nation in the world today. And we will probably be eating even better in the future.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Another first for the art world —d Mae Clarke is having a one-woman show in her unemployment insurance office.

You remember Mae. Anyway, you remember the grapefruit. The one that Jimmy Cagney pushed in her face in "Public Enemy." It set a whole new style in male-female etiquette and did wonders for the citrus industry.

Unique Gallery

Mae is also noted as the girl who almost got the guy in the original "Frankenstein."

Such accomplishments may now fade in the glow of Mae's latest career as an artist. If you are near the North Hollywood office of the state unemployment insurance department, you might drop in and see her show —well, two canvases, anyway.

How did she happen to choose the unique gallery? "Well, I took up painting a year ago just to see if I could do it," she explained. "It was something to do between acting jobs, and I got interested. People began telling me my work was good, and I wanted some exposure. No sense in hiding my talent on my apartment wall. 'The ideal thing would be to have an exhibit at Raymond Burr's gallery, but he only has Picasso and people like that. Or I'd have a big party and let Vincent Price introduce me. I can't afford it."

See Cut in Price Of Liquor if State Repeals 1950 Law

NEW YORK (AP)—The price of bottled liquor might drop about $1 a fifth if the state repealed its minimum retail price law for liquors and allowed open competition, says a report to the state commission studying the Alcoholic Beverage Control law.

Prof. Harold L. Wattel, who prepared the report, said there is no need for the Feld-Crawford Act, the state's resale price maintenance law. He said the law fosters artificially high profit margins and high distribution costs.

The report by Wattel, chairman of the business division of Hostra University, Hempstead, N.Y., was made public by the study commission Sunday.

The commission will open public hearings Wednesday on the Wattel report and on other recommendations for changes in the law. The commission later will make recommendations to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and the Legislature.

Sets Resale Prices The Liquor Minimum Retail Price Law, enacted in 1950, requires brand owners to file minimum resale prices with the State Liquor Authority and forbids package stores to sell the product for less. Violators can lose their liquor licenses.

Even if the price law was removed Wattel said, there probably would be some voluntary price fixing. He said, however, that there is no doubt that liquor prices would be reduced. The report compared the price of a fifth of liquor sold in New York and in Washington, D.C., which has no minimum retail price law. Although the taxes are about the same, the fifth costs $4.99 in New York and $3.85 in Washington, the report said.

Other price comparisons showed that most liquors cost $1 a bottle more in New York than in Washington.

SAUGERTIES GOP TOWN CANDIDATE

WILLIAM R. BROWN

A proficient member of the town administration, William R. Brown of West Saugerties seeks to succeed himself as Saugerties town highway superintendent on the Republican ticket.

He has served the township in that position since his appointment in September 1957 and has handled his office with foresight and integrity. Superintendent Brown was selected to full terms in November 1957 and again in 1959 and 1961.

Mr. Brown has proven his ability to cope with the intricate and sometimes insurmountable tasks of snow removal and maintenance of 161 miles of town roads in the most economical manner for the town taxpayers.

Prior to his association with the town highway department, he had over eight years experience as an employee of the State Highway Department.

He also has a record of outstanding accomplishments in civic activities, veterans affairs, and conservation.

His reelection would add to the town administration another experienced department supervisor of exceptional ability.

His decisions on highway expenditures have always been governed by the taxpayers ability to pay and his economies in administration have not jeopardized the high rating of town roads which are said to be the best in the county.

Rocky's Support Of Barry Would Rest on Platform

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller held out a big "if" when asked whether he would support Barry Goldwater if the Arizona senator was the Republican presidential nominee.

Yes, said Rockefeller in a television interview Sunday, he would support Goldwater if he ran on a Republican party platform like the one of 1960. That platform contained several liberal planks.

Rockefeller, who says he'll announce his own intentions toward the GOP standard-bearer role early next month, played a part in drafting the 1960 platform.

Richard M. Nixon ran unsuccessfully for the presidency on that platform. And, Rockefeller said on the ABC "Issues and Answers" program Sunday, Nixon talks as if he is going to be a candidate again next year, despite the former vice president's denials.

Moderator Howard K. Smith told Rockefeller that many people believe the governor's marriage to a divorced mother of four has been the main factor in reducing his standing "from way up on top of the opinion polls to down toward the bottom."

"Yet now," Smith said, "conservatives are saying, 'well, that's not so, that hasn't influenced much votes and much thought. What matters is that people never did like what Rockefeller stood for, they like Goldwater and now for the first time they see a change and they are going for Goldwater.' What do you think of it?"

Rockefeller answered: "Well, I think it's true of the ultra-conservative, or what I call the radical right group. I think they might have felt that way and it has given them a good excuse to come out aggressively into the open."

Woman From Big Indian Injured As Car Overturns

Elizabeth Wood, 20, of Big Indian was injured Sunday afternoon, when the car she was driving went out of control, hit an embankment and overturned, according to Kingston State Police.

Troopers said the woman was taken to Kingston Hospital suffering a fractured jaw and lacerations, and a sprained neck.

A report of Trooper David Wehrin stated the car was traveling south on the Oliveria Road when a door opened and as the driver attempted to close it she lost control.

SHS Wins 29th Straight, Defeats Albany Academy, 26-7

Seither Praises Opponents, Rates Team Best Met to Date

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

"Noisy" was the only way to describe the Saugerties High dress room after Saturday's clutch performance against the Cadets of Albany Academy.

The room, located in the basement of the more than 100-year old building, was cluttered with tired bodies of players who knew they had to play their best game of the season to put a damper on the Academy hopes of pulling off a win and stop the winning streak which is now at 29 games.

Coach Fred Seither, who couldn't conceal his happy feelings, said the Albany team was the best one his Sawyers have met all season. He had words of praise for Archie Coupe, calling the lad a great, all-round back.

Teacher Meets Pupil
To make the day more complete, Edward L. Pierce, who was Seither's football coach at Ithaca High School, was at the game. It was the first time teacher had seen pupil coach.

"Looks like Fred dusted off some of the plays I used when he starred for me," the retired coach remarked.

Seither, who has had marked success with the running game, admitted he intended to have more passes thrown during the contest. "All out opponents know that we throw very little, so we changed our style a little," he stated.

As has been the case in all the victories of the winning streak, team play was evident from start to finish.

Outstanding Line Play
The line, anchored by Chuck Seither with ample assistance from Mike Brady, Dick Maines, Art Sperl, Tom Johnson, John Lasher, Earl Martin and others, was tough, especially in key situations.

Tackling was fierce. In fact, Albany Academy not only lost the battle but may have lost the war. Several starters were hit so hard during the encounter they were forced to leave the game.

Even on offense the Sawyers made their presence felt. On a tackle by Coupe, Giannotti was outweighed by about 55 pounds, but he just put his head down and knocked the tackler for a loss and sent him to the sidelines.

seems to be felt more by the loyal rooters than by the players. Mrs. Giannotti, mother of the halfback, has worn the same pair of shoes to the last 29 games. It was unusually warm out but those winter shoes were in evidence.

For coach Ernie Steck and his Cadets, it's getting to be the same story. This marked the fourth straight season the Academy eleven went into the game unbeaten. They failed to continue with that streak once again.

Assistant coach Jeff Smythe was beaming at the end of the proceedings. His wife Linda, one of the best amateur golfers in the area, is a rival of Mrs. Ann Coupe, whose son is the star of the Cadet backfield. They should have plenty to talk about.

on the golf course next year.

Better Conditioned Team
Conditioning seemed to tell the tale. The Sawyers were as fresh at the end as they were when the game started. Academy players seemed to slow down, especially the linemen, during the late stages.

Seither will have the Sawyers back on the practice field this afternoon, preparing for their Saturday meeting with Roosevelt.

Two Opponents Left
Is the team over the hump now in its bid for a fourth straight unbeaten season? "We play the games one at a time and there are still two left," Seither said. One thing is certain. He doesn't have to worry about complacency. This is a hungry club, one which wants to get better with each performance. That's what makes winners.

Howe Gets 544th Goal for Detroit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Detroit (AP) — Gordie Howe, the Detroit Red Wings' Golden Boy for 18 years, now owns a share of the National Hockey League all-time scoring record with Maurice (Rocket) Richard.

Howe, as pandemonium broke out in Detroit Olympia Stadium's stands, drove home goal No. 544 Sunday night to draw even with Richard's 18-year record set with the Montreal Canadiens.

The Canadiens beat Detroit 6-4, but that made no difference to the Detroit fans, who have long held Howe as their darling.

"I'm glad I got it," Howe said. Giving credit to his teammates, he added "this should help the club. They've been out there looking out for me."

Howe gets his first chance for No. 545 Tuesday night when the Red Wings play the Chicago Black Hawks at Chicago.

Gordie's big one came on a power play at 11:04 of the third period. He slashed in a short shot past goalie Gump Worsley after taking a pass from the boards from Bruce MacGregor.

"Then five guys hit me," Howe said.

Howe made his 544 goals in 1,126 games. Richard made his in 978 games in 18 seasons from 1942 to 1960, when he retired. When Richard began his accumulation of the NHL schedule was 50 games a season. Since then it has been 70 games.

In other NHL action, winning goals in the last minute of the first period sent the Chicago Black Hawks flying, 4-1, over the New York Rangers.

The Hawks now have an unbeaten string of four victories and two ties. Ab McDonald and Bobby Hull scored the vital points within 37 minutes of each other.

Meanwhile, a six-game streak of a different kind than the Hawks' was snapped when the Boston Bruins beat the Toronto Maple Leafs 2-0. Goalie Ed Johnston shut out the Stanley Cup champions for the Bruins' first season victory after six losses.

By JOHN FARROW

Associated Press Sports Writer

PARIS (AP) — The United States, with Jack Nicklaus chalking up a fantastic run of birdies, won the Canada Cup Golf Tournament for the fourth straight year today as play in the final round was delayed by fog and then finally cut to nine holes.

Fred Corcoran, tournament director, ruled that all players must complete the 63 holes in order for the tournament to be official. But later he said there was no question but that all would complete today's nine holes thus making the victories of the U. S. and Nicklaus official.

Nicklaus birdied six of the nine holes and also won the individual title with a 63-hole total of 237 after being tied with South Africa's Gary Player at the end of 54 holes.

Arnold Palmer, a member of two of the three previous U. S. championship teams, had a 245 to give the U. S. a combined score of 482. Palmer had a 34 for the final nine holes.

The final round originally was scheduled for Sunday but was postponed because of a heavy fog. Fog blanketed the par 72 Saint-nom-la-Breteche links today but, after a long delay, lifted enough to permit the players from 33 countries to tee off.

Corcoran ruled, however, that the round be reduced to nine holes because of weather conditions and the fact a number of the players have commitments in Australia Wednesday.

Spain, tied with Nicklaus and Palmer at 416 for the team championship going into the final round, ended up with 485. Sebastian Miguel had a 33 for a 63-hole total of 242 and Ramon Sota a 36 for a 243.

Player finished with a 37, giving him a 63-hole total of 242 and a tie with Miguel. With a number of players still on the course it looked like 242 would be good enough for second place in the battle for the individual crown won last year by Argentina's Roberto de Vicenzo. Retief Walters of South Africa had a closing 38 to give his team a total of 492.

Giants' Game Plan Leads to Victory

CLEVELAND (AP) — New York Coach Allie Sherman had a plan to defeat the previously unbeaten Cleveland Browns — control the ball, move it in short bursts and smother the league's best offense.

It was a tall order. But the Giants, in a do-or-die game for them, did it all and more Sunday before 84,213 stunned fans en route to a 33-6 National Football League victory.

Y. A. Tittle hit on 21 of 31 passes for 214 yards and two touchdowns. Alex Webster ran over for another score and Don Chandler booted field goals from the 29, 34, 33 and 42-yard lines and kicked three conversions for a total of 15 points.

How well the Giants controlled the ball can be seen in the statistics. They ran off 78 plays, or 40 more than Cleveland, which now has a 6-1 record compared with 5-2 marks for New York and St. Louis in the NFL Eastern Conference.

Jim Brown was held to 40 yards on nine carries and Frank Ryan completed only one of nine passes—and that for a minus six yards to Ernie Green, who was injured on the play.

Temperers got out of control 52 seconds before the final game when Brown and Giants' line-backer Tom Scott traded punches and both were ejected.

Overtrick captured the Little Brown Jug and Meadow Skipper won the Cane Futurity, the first two legs of the crown. Canadian-owned Country Don will be out to upset the top two.

Key Interceptions Ruin Losers Chances

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Facing the biggest challenge to their winning streak, Saugerties High gridders met the situation with the aplomb of pros as they cruised to a 26-7 win before an SRO crowd Saturday at the Albany Academy field.

Coach Fred Seither's plucky gridders won their 29th straight decision with some razzle-dazzle offensive fireworks and a solid tremendous effort, highlighted by four pass interceptions.

From the time end Al Kane caught a 30 yard scoring pass from halfback Rich Giannotti until the last play of the game, the Sawyers were never worse than even, despite some running heroics on the part of Archie Coupe and a couple of long pass completions by quarterback Pete Voorhees.

In addition to his touchdown pass, Giannotti ran for a score from the four and carried the ball for two extra points. Quarterback Paul (Boots) Buytkins sneaked in for a TD and fullback Dick Snyder crashed over from the two.

Good Pass Defense

It was the Sawyers' pass defense which stood out in the bright sunshine of the Capital City gridiron. End Mike Brady swiped a pair of passes in the second half and they came when it appeared as if the Cadets were going to catch and pass the winners. Buytkins came up with a key interception and it put the icing on this victory cake.

Coach Ernie Steck's team, boasting another unbeaten mark starting the contest, put a Sawyer punt in play early on the 31 early in the initial period and made four straight first downs before surrendering the pigskin on the SHS 27.

This was just the beginning of several frustrations for the Cadets. They moved the ball well between the 20 yard stripes but couldn't penetrate the fired-up defense of the visitors.

Late in the first session, Saugerties started a march towards the goal. Giannotti scampered 26 yards to put the pigskin inside the Albany 40.

Richie The Passer

The slick halfback took a handoff on the first play of the second quarter. He started to his right, stopped and threw a pass to Kane. Al was behind two defenders, took it on the five and went over. Giannotti then cut off tackle for the PAT.

Albany came storming back, going 60 yards in 10 plays. Coupe, a well-built, 205 pound lad, did most of the carrying. He lugged the pigskin six of the last seven plays from scrimmage, finally diving over from the one. Don Summer placed-kicked the extra point.

Giannotti, who is closing out a spectacular grid career in a blaze of glory, took a handoff from Buytkins on the ensuing kick-off and brought it to the home side 45. From there, the Sawyers moved into paydirt again.

Buytkins tossed short to Brady for a first down on the 30. "Boots" then bootlegged to the 18 before hitting Giannotti with a screen pass for a first down on the 12.

Fullback Glenn Davis crashed to the four, halfback Al Genthner to the goal and then Buytkins sneaked in for the score. His pass to Earl Martin for the extra point was incomplete.

Just before halftime, the Cadets completed a pass which put them on the SHS 25 but time ran out before another play could be started.

Brady To The Rescue

The turning point in this bruising but clean battle came midway in the third quarter. The Cadets were on the move, having put the kickoff in play on the 25 and picked up three first downs, carrying all the way to the Sawyer 21.

Voorhees tried to go for the "home run." He threw for his left end, Brady, following the play all the way, cut in front of the receiver and pilfered the toss. It halted the scoring threat.

Again the Cadets came back. They put a short punt in play on their 33 and moved to the midfield stripe as the fourth quarter action began. Voorhees passed again and Brady picked it off on his own 20. He carried all the way to the AA 29 before being stopped on a shoe string tackle.

From there, it was easy. Giannotti moved to the 15 on a cross back. Five plays later, this great halfback went over from the four and you could sense that the home side's great effort was not going to be good enough. Giannotti was successful on his run for the PAT, making the scoreboard read, 20-7.

It took only three plays for the happy winners to score again. After Dick Maines had shoved Voorhees for a 10 yard loss on an attempted pass, Buytkins picked off a toss on the 25 and galloped all the way to the two yard stripe.

The Last Touchdown

Snyder then cracked over for the final touchdown, taking three tacklers with him. The home side had one more crack with the pigskin and Buytkins intercepted another pass, this time on his 14. He ran it to the 32 and the Sawyers killed the clock.

Saugerties will conclude the home season with a DCSL engagement against Roosevelt on Saturday. They finish up the following week with a game at Beacon.

Giant Defense Paces 33-6 Win Over Browns

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Ro, Lo, Mo, Ko, YAT and a toe.

That spelt victory for New York Sunday, a 33-6 walloping of the previously unbeaten Cleveland Browns in a National Football League game so completely dominated by the Giants that even Coach Allie Sherman had to admit:

"Maybe, we made some mistakes out there, but I didn't see any."

As for beaten Coach Balton Collier, he agreed: "They simply outplayed us in every single angle of the game."

And that the Giants did, from the splendid defense led by the Ro, Lo, Mo, Ko boys to the offensive heroes—Y. A. Tittle, the balding quarterback who's YAT to his teammates, and Don Chandler, the man with the toe that kicked four field goals.

But the biggest single factor had to be the defense, led by the fearsome front four of Ro, Lo, Mo, Ko—Andy Robustelli, John Loveters, Dick Modzelewski and Jim Katacavage, who conforms to Ko because "Kat don't go."

40 Yards for Brown
Neither did Jimmy Brown, nor Frank Ryan. Brown, the league's No. 1 rusher with a 150-yard-a-game average, was limited to 40 yards in nine carries. Ryan completed exactly one pass in nine attempts and wound up with a minus six yards for his efforts.

The Browns' loss deprived the NFL of its last unbeaten team, but Cleveland still leads the Eastern Conference with a 6-1 record, one game ahead of New York and St. Louis both 5-2. The Cardinals kept pace with the Giants as Charlie Johnson pitched three TD passes in a 21-7 victory over Washington.

2nd Stringers Shine
Green Bay and Chicago remained tied for the top spot in the West. The Packers made the most of top performances by second — stringers John Roach and Elijah Pitts for a 34-20 walloping of Baltimore and the Bears defeated Philadelphia 16-7 on two long drives engineered by Billy Wade.

Elsewhere, Ed Brown passed for four touchdowns as Pittsburgh edged Dallas 27-21. Detroit got three TD passes from Earl Morrall in a 28-10 triumph over Minnesota and Los Angeles used Roman Gabriel's passing to down San Francisco 28-21.

The Giants scored the first seven times they had the ball, with Tittle passing 23 yards to Del Shofner and six to Hugh McElhenney for TDs. Alex Webster smashing two yards for another and Chandler kicking field goals of 29, 34, 35 and 42 yards. The Browns scored on a 10-yard pass from reserve quarterback Jim Ninowski to Rich Kreitling in the final quarter.

Linebacker

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (NEA)—Because he made so many tackles, coach Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse switched Ed Confl from fullback to a line-backing post.

Yaun Has Pair Of Touchdowns To Pace Winners

Played off their feet for almost a half, the undefeated Liberty Indians scored a touchdown 30 seconds before intermission and then routed game Rondout Valley, 25-0, in a UCAI contest Saturday at the losers' gridiron.

Clayton Yaun, the ace half-back for the Sullivan county gridders, scampered 70 yards on a quick opener to put his team on the scoreboard as the first half came to a close.

In the third quarter, the visitors climaxed a long drive when quarterback John Elliott passed to Yaun in the end zone. The play covered four yards. Elliott tossed to fullback Don Benton for the extra point.

The plucky Ganders gave ground in the fourth period as Benton went over from the one and halfback Jeff Grund bulled his way 10 yards for the final score.

Rondout did a good job on defense but the visitors had too much manpower over the course of the entire contest.

Liberty is now 5-0 in circuit play while Coach Chick Meehan's team has a 3-2 record.

New Experiments Urged by Wagner In Youth Program

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner urges "new experiments and new approaches" in the fight to lessen problems among youths.

Speaking Sunday night at the ninth annual ward dinner of the New York Mirror Youth Welfare Fund, he called for support of federal legislation to create a national service corps and to provide funds for vocational training and sheltered workshop experience for youths who never have had jobs.

The mayor spoke before 1,500 persons in the New York Hilton Hotel at a dinner given in his honor. He was given the group's Humanitarian Award, a plaque "in appreciation... for his zeal on behalf of the youth of our community."

It was announced at the dinner that the fund will be operated in the future by the New York Journal-American. The Mirror ceased publication earlier this month.

The award was presented to Wagner by Charles B. McCabe, chairman of the fund and former publisher of the Mirror.

Seafarers Picket Second Canadian Ship at Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The (SIU), protesting a trusteeship imposed on it and other Canadian ship here today.

A spokesman for SIU members from the Great Lakes district said Sunday the union's small outboard boat would picket the Tecumseh, a Canadian ore carrier due to unload today at the Republic Steel Co. The boat Sunday picketed another Canadian ore carrier, the Algosteel. The ship unloaded 10,000 tons of ore at a Bethlehem Steel Co. dock in nearby Lackawanna, however, then left the harbor.

The outboard began picketing the Algosteel Saturday.

The Canadian government imposed a trusteeship on the SIU and other Canadian unions in an effort to ease tensions created by a labor dispute. The principals in the dispute are the SIU and the Canadian Maritime Union.

90-Year Building Wrecked by Fire At Colgate School

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP)—Fire has wrecked Colgate University's 90-year-old administration building, causing damage one school spokesman estimated at $1 million.

The spokesman said Sunday it would be at least two days before the extent of damage to records could be determined.

He said the flames ruined most of the university's current records and that it might be "days" before the records could be replaced. But he said some records stored in vaults might have been preserved.

The pre-dawn fire forced the president, treasurer, admissions dean of students, registrar and public relations staff to seek new temporary offices.

In addition, communications within the university were severed, as flames destroyed the main switchboard of the campus.

The cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

The spokesman said the estimate of damage included the value of equipment inside the ruined structure. He said the building could not be salvaged.

Over 1,000 persons watched firemen from nearby communities battle the fire. Fire officials said they thought the fire had been burning for at least an hour before it was discovered.

Colgate, located in the Chenango Valley, is an all-male, private liberal arts university with 1,400 students.

The administration building was located at the campus entrance and was isolated from other school structures, which were not threatened by the flames.

The building was constructed in 1873.

The Spanish-speaking population of the Dominican Republic, some 3,014,000, lives in some 19,000 square miles, nearly the size of Vermont and New Hampshire combined.

German Miners Trapped 80 Hours Are Fit and Well

Broistedt, Germany (AP) — Three German miners trapped for over 80 hours in a flooded iron mine cheerfully reported today they are fit and well.

The miners reported to the surface through a communication shaft bored 259 feet down to the air pocket in which they were enclosed by water.

It will be at least Wednesday before a second shaft, wide enough to bring them up, can be completed, rescue officials said.

During the night, rescuers offered the men a deck of playing cards. But they declined the offer, explaining that only two of the three were card players.

"We lack the third man for skat," they said. Skat is a popular German card game that requires a minimum of three players.

The men are in a gallery with space equivalent to a four-room apartment. They have oxygen cylinders which were being used for welding when the flood waters poured in Thursday after a nearby dam broke.

Four other miners have been given up for lost. Another 79 escaped within three hours of the accident and seven others were brought out later.

At 8 a.m. today, the wide shaft had been sunk 40 feet in nearly 20 hours of boring.

A second rescue shaft also was begun. During the night, a concrete air lock was constructed. It will keep the air pressure in the shaft above normal so water will not get into the dead end where the men are sitting.

The three men were identified as Emil Pohal, 34, Fritz Leder, 36, and Gerhard Hanasch, 43.

Corbett and charged that Corbett had failed to take advantage of an invitation to confer with him on labor legislation.

Corbett told the delegates later that it was "not true" that he had failed to try to confer with the governor on labor legislation.

Rockefeller was attacked from another labor quarter Sunday when Teamsters Joint Council 16 challenged his assertion that the state's economy had expanded faster since he took office than it did under the preceding Democratic administration.
